a new beginning...

Peggy,

well, I hope you have a great ooph-
more year!
I'm glad.

I got to know
you this year - yours
oo sweet?

Maybe I'll
see you sometime this summer!!

LOV,

Kathy B.

DA

Peggy
How the hell are ya?
thanks for being such a great friend.
We had a blast in health
with the squirt-guns
and super balls.
We finally got through the first year of this hell - I can't survive anymore.
But anyways thanks
for being such a great friend.
Love,
Henry

Lishuoke

Peggy, Even tho I don't know you that well you seem really sweet. Thanks for all the good times
in health.

Love: "G"

Peggy,

I'm a girl who I'm glad
I got to know.
Good luck in everything you do!
Amata

Peggy,

I don't know how to start because I've got so much to say, so I'll just begin, ok? First of all you are the cute one, always were and always will be! I hope that we will always be super friends and maybe even be best friends! You can have two best friends can't you? (no offence Denise D) We were better friends in the beginning of the year, but alot happened and now we're drifting apart. Please promise me we won't drift to far apart because I really couldn't stand that! I hope you aren't laughing at this, I know it sounds queer! But please take it the right way! It's just try. I'm really glad I came to NDS now and it's people like you who make me glad. I've never been in a "real" fight with you and hope I never will, so let's both cross our fingers and wish for the best!

Conclusion

"In the beginning, when God created the heavens and the earth, the earth was a formless wasteland, and darkness covered the abyss, while a mighty wind swept over the waters.

Then God said, "Let there be light." God saw how good the light was. God then separated the light from the darkness. God called light "day" and the darkness he called "night". Thus evening came, and morning followed — the first day.

Then God said, "Let there be a dome in the middle of the waters, to separate one body of water from the other." And so it happened: God made the dome, and it separated the water above the dome from the water below it. God called the dome sky. Evening came, and morning followed — the second day.

Then God said, "Let the water under the sky be gathered into a single basin, so that the dry land may appear." And so it happened: the water under the sky was gathered into its basin, and the dry land appeared. God called the land "the earth", and the basin of water He called "the sea". God saw how good it was. Then God said, "Let the earth bring forth vegetation: every kind of plant that bears fruit with its seed in it. And so it happened: the earth brought forth every kind of plant that bears seed, and every kind of fruit tree on earth that bears fruit with its seed in it. God saw how good it was. Evening came and morning followed — the third day

Then God said: "Let there be lights in the dome of the sky, to separate day from night. Let them mark the fixed times, the days and the years, and serve as luminaries in the dome of the sky to shed light upon the earth." And so it happened: God made the two great lights, the greater one to govern the night; and He made the stars. God set them in the dome of the sky, to shed light, to govern the day and the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. God saw how good it was. Evening came and morning followed — the fourth day

Then God said, "Let the water teem with abundance of living creatures, and on the earth let birds fly beneath the dome of the sky." And so it happened: God created the great monsters and all kinds of swimming creatures with which the water teems, and all kinds of winged birds. God saw how good it was, and God blessed them, saying, "Be fertile and multiply on the earth." Evening came, and morning followed — the fifth day

Then God said: "Let us make man in our own image after our own likeness. Let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, and the cattle and over all wild animals and creatures that crawl." God blessed them saying: "Be fertile and multiply; fill the earth and subdue it." And so it happened. God looked at everything he had made, and he found it very good. Evening came, and morning followed — the sixth day.

God provided for us a world filled with opportunities for development in every aspect of creation. So, too, is every girl entering the world of Notre Dame given the opportunity to grow in intelligence, dignity, and friendship. We are the prime element of God's creation. Thus, we gather in this place, together, to build a community and honor God's gifts that allowed us to seek and find the meaning and value of education of a personality and pride, possessed by each individual attending school here at Notre Dame Academy begins from the first day that a girl makes the decision to become one of the special and essential elements of this school and the spirit that is contained within its walls

Faculty ~

The Notre Dame teacher stresses quality education with underlying Christian principles. The student is treated as an individual person with her own problems, talents and abilities. No class activity, be it the Senior Play, the Junior Ring Ceremony, Sophomore Mission Fair or the Freshman Book Fair is complete without the support of the Sisters and our seven dedicated lay teachers

Each Notre Dame teacher is a dedicated woman, proficient in her own field, and never too busy to stop to listen. She is in the classroom every morning welcoming the 'early bird' students, who are eagerly checking test results and homework — answering their questions, calming their anxieties or just there with a cheerful greeting

She is available after school for counseling, tutoring, preparing tomorrow's assignments until her day ends — in prayer, asking God's help with the task entrusted to her

Administrative Leaders See ND Through Eventful Year

The strong functioning of a good organization is always accredited to the administration. So also, is the excellent academic standards here at Notre Dame Academy accredited to our outstanding faculty.

Faculty members, forty-two Sisters and seven lay women, work long hard hours year round to fully prepare themselves for another school year. And this year teachers altered their schedules, for cautionary purposes, in order to be safe against any unforetold school closings. Learning from last years' unfortunate experience with the snow storms, semester schedules were changed so that first semester would end before Christmas. That meant extra work and planning for the teachers, but it is said that intelligent minds adjust easily to changes. Both faculty and students alike grew accustomed quickly to the change.

This year brought into light the valuable treasures we have because of attending a private school. The closing of Toledo Public Schools helped us to realize how lucky we are to have a thorough school system supported by our parents and efficiently run by our religious and lay faculty.

...~ Academics ~...

No computer can substitute for the learning process, although it is true that today is an era of innovation. Computers save crucial time for business operations, a space probe has examined Mars, and new creations in art and literature abound.

Each of these accomplishments began as one small idea. That idea was dwelt upon, and while facts grew to support it, a great sense of satisfaction unfolded as the idea became a reality.

Education is important for women of today and Catholic education is education in a true sense. The teachers of Notre Dame Academy are not concerned merely with mental growth but also with spiritual growth. For it is only with balance of these two maturations, one can develop their full potential and their ideas can become realities.

Christ Lights Up Lives In ND Religion Classes

Notre Dame religion classes tried this year to help students grow spiritually. Religion classes were special because they allowed students to grow together as a class and also to grow as individuals in a Christian community.

Forming values and learning to accept Christ in their lives played an important role in NDA religion classes. Students learned that God is the center of all existence and that they should center their lives around God, our Creator through a strong, personal relationship with Christ.

The real effectiveness of religion classes was the application, by the students, of what they have learned to their daily lives.

Each Year Of English Provides Art and Skill

Senior, junior and sophomore years brought different highlights into courses of English. Unlike freshman year, students were permitted to choose the courses at their level which they preferred.

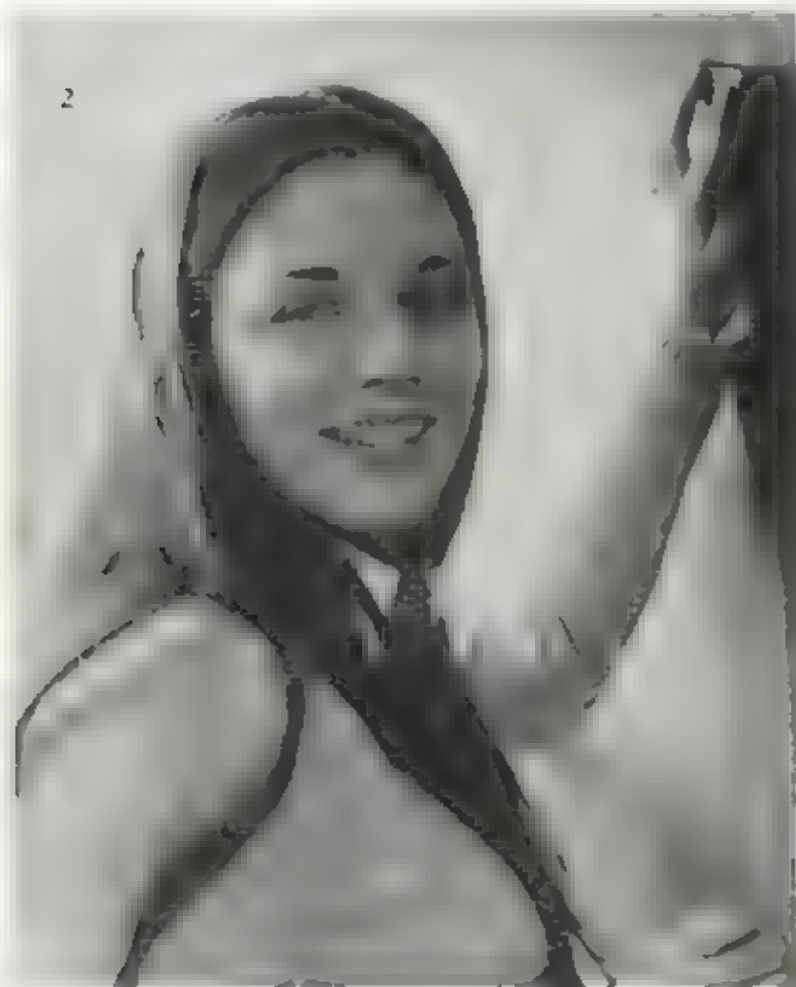

In sophomore year, one was required to take one literary course and one writing course. Each course was a semester long. This gave the teachers time to develop the talents of each girl.

Also during sophomore year, library study ventured to European authors and poets. Writing techniques involved basic ideas and use of simple skills.

Junior year brought challenging writing courses. Some students spent one semester perfecting term papers with these ranging from gun control to commercial food advertising. In junior year students again chose a writing course and one of three American literature courses.

Seniors were given a broader variety to choose from. World Literature on two levels, Epic/Drama, British literature, and Great Books were a few of the senior courses which involved much reading. To the aspiring writers, two courses helped to surface talents: Creative Writing and Advanced Composition.

The English Department strives to produce well read students who can also handle their language with skill.

Freshmen Improve Skills During English Classes.

For the benefit of each Freshman English student, teachers re-introduced basic grammatical studies. Freshman students devoted one full year to vocabulary, punctuation and sentence structure.

Often teachers reverted to the writing of simple compositions and the reading of short stories for practice and lesson comprehension so that grammatical efficiency was increased. Teachers often found that freshmen need refresher work in word usage and sentence structure.

Freshman year was not just filled with direct objects, gerunds, participles, and predicate adjectives but often a Freshman English teacher provided one of Shakespeare's greats. Plays like "A Mid-Summer Nights Dream," "Romeo and Juliet" or Julius Caesar" enhanced freshman ears and provided rich study for the basic Freshman English class.

Future Careers In Writing Begin In Journalism I

Sophomores and juniors who were interested in furthering a writing career participated in Journalism I. First year Journalism developed basic knowledge needed to produce a newspaper and a yearbook. Learning news writing, editorial style, layout and headline composition were just a few preliminary tasks they had to accomplish before they put-out their cub issue of "The Notre Dame." The students gradually learned special techniques and styles that will be of great value to them when they enter the Journalism field.

Learning the count of each letter, Jenny Jordan figures the total count for a headline. 4. Carol Korpics and Virginia Kosydar consult each other on homeroom subscription returns

Speech Students Learn Art of Oratory, Drama

Public speaking and expressive speech were two of the means by which students studied the communication arts this year. Classes were limited in number and allowed for more individualized study in the fields of drama, oration, competitive speaking, audio-visual experience and other aspects of communication that improved the girls' knowledge of this subject.

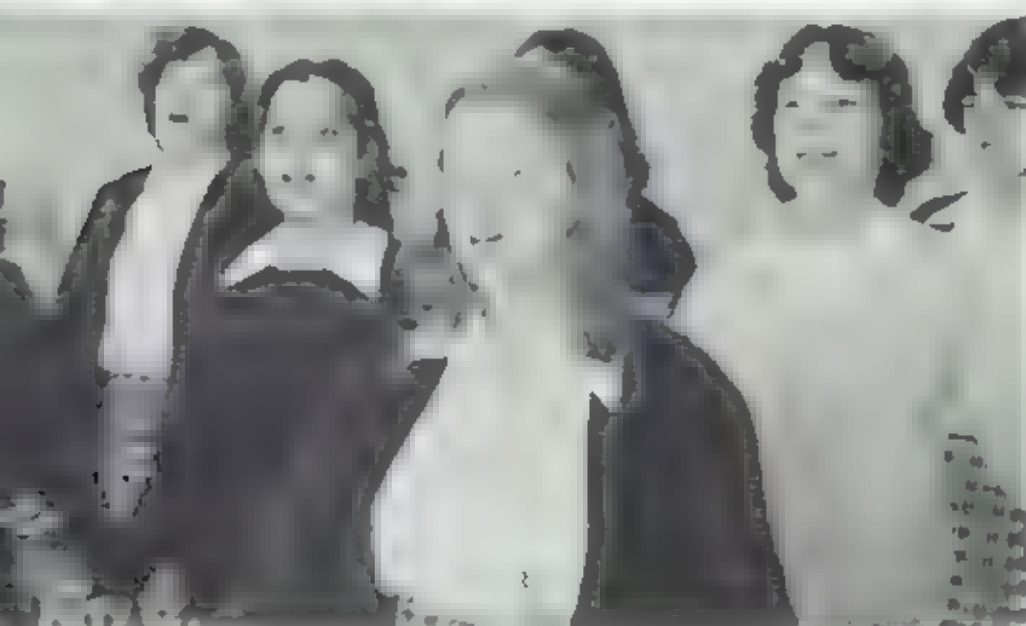

The department offered the aid of recording facilities and a video taping machine to give first-hand experience in the technical branch of communications.

The main purpose for these two subjects, offered on a one-semester basis for expressive speech and a full-year basis for public speaking, was to give the students a general knowledge of the art of oratory and the communications world. A sense of confidence in the presence of other people was another benefit from both forms of the communications classes.

1. Speech students perform a radio show in the broadcast room. 2. Mary Jo Blian shows her oratory skills in public speaking. 3. Denise Lisseek and Carol Feltman synchronize background sounds and music as Tania Park reads a script. 4. Annette Kavanaugh and Linda Noe look over records in speech class. 5. Cindy Bates delivers her "Voice of Democracy" speech — a winner.

Directress and Girls Bring Music to NDA

The halls were alive with the sound of voices as Notre Dame's chorus opened its mouth to sing for school Masses, Christmas and Spring Concerts and for the attention of parents and friends alike

Under the experienced guidance of Sister Mary Krista, choral directress, fifth and sixth periods were devoted to the development of aspiring voices as well as those of veteran chorus members

Music appreciation involved the study of the knowledge and understanding of music's moods as well as its technicalities

The revival of the Christmas Contata as well as old and new song arrangements were the goal of both the freshman-sophomore and junior-senior choruses. Audiences gathered to hear their favorite musical tunes as well as classical masterpieces selected by Sister Mary Krista with suggestions from the girls

The school orchestra joined the choir during both the Christmas and Spring concerts as well as for special programs throughout the year

1. Sarah McGowan, Tracy Bashaw and Maria Kruse practice songs in chorus. 2. Sister Mary Krista leads chorus in songs. 3. Sandra Kempf dances during chorus class. 4. Chorus members practice for their Christmas Concert

Melodious Sounds Fill Music Students' Minds

The three P's — patience, practice, and precision are Sister Mary Helaine's key to instrumental success

The NDA orchestra, now in its fourth year, has come from just a few instruments to quite an ensemble. Instruments introduced this year included the piccolo, oboe, and concert cymbals.

Girls noted that while they chose their instruments according to personal preference, they were encouraged to participate in orchestra while they were learning.

Classes aimed for the ultimate perfection of musical compositions. An occasional flat occurred, but instead of harping, Sister Mary Helaine maintained harmony until the songs became true.

The orchestra entertained the student body at the Columbus Day picnic and at various assemblies throughout the year.

Christmas carols were given a new flavor and pieces ranging from Bach to Richard Rogers brought recognition to the orchestra at their Christmas and Spring concerts.

NDA Students Discover Elements and Formulas

Chemistry teachers, Sister Mary Lewellin and Sister Mary Christelle taught their students about the elements, solutions, compounds, formulas, physical reactions and chemical reactions. In first year chemistry the students were taught the fundamentals of chemistry while the second year students went more deeply into the study.

If one had walked into the chemistry room during the year, he might have seen calculations scribbled on the board, test tubes with strange compounds in them or maybe even an unexpected reaction during an experiment. No matter when one would have gone in, though, he would have found students hard at work.

Many discoveries were made by the students this year and much was learned. Although chemistry is not an easy subject, it always proves to be interesting.

1. Kaye Ann Watkins and Cathy Arden purify their benzene acid by using a separatory funnel. 2. Dean Winkler demonstrates a live chemical reaction for Christy and 3. Sister Mary Christelle explains the experiment to Paul Cepkowsky. 4. Dean Winkler completes Cathy Arden's experiment.

Students Discover Life Through looking Glass

Disecting worms, grasshoppers and frogs was all a part of this year's biology classes. Biology teachers, Sister Mary Stanley and Miss Kathleen Shufflin taught their students a variety of facts and skills this year

The year's work started with the organization of a single cell and gradually grew to the function of the cell in photosynthesis. But biology was a fast moving subject and as soon as students learned photosynthesis, Sister Mary Stanley and Miss Shufflin started teaching them the families of plants and animals.

One of the biggest events of biology classes came in spring when students visited the zoo. This proved to be a very educational experience for all the students. They were able to use practical application of their biology classes by being able to classify animals they saw and recognize different animal behaviors.

1. Marjorie Sutton and Valerie Spears examine a wasp's nest. 2. Sister Mary Stanley reviews the organisms that students will dissect throughout the year. 3. The fish's dorsal fin is examined for texture

Scientists Delve Into Earth's Prime Elements

Chemical equations, electronic bonds, displacement of water, light, sound and energy are all elements that made science full of fascinating discoveries the past year.

Freshmen studied health under the guidance of Sister Mary Fabian, Sister Mary Gabrielle and Mrs. Sue Rosa. They spent many class periods studying various systems of the body and the correct way to protect their health.

During physical science classes many students marveled at the structures of rocks, and exact chemical compositions of substances found in the earth.

Physics combined study of light, sound and energy to challenge the curiosities of senior students.

Elements of velocity and speed entered into the mathematical portions of their study.

As things became more complicated, ND's scientists involved themselves deeply in solving each problem it came upon. Knowledge gained far outweighed the effort exerted as girls discovered startling facts they'd long remember.

1. Julia Sheehan and Jennifer Scolding discuss a problem in health. 2. Kathy Ekhart and Diane Herr regulate the dials on the Geiger counter, checking for radioactivity. 3. In physics, Theresa Meehan, Metrya Simmons and Laura Morches calibrate an acceleration timer for velocity.

God's Great Worlds Open Up to Scientists

Earth science and physiology were two science courses among these offered to students this year. Earth science was offered to freshmen students and physiology was offered to seniors who wished to take it.

Freshmen who took earth science learned about our wonderful world — its characteristics, and its tremendous potential. Earth science teacher, Sister Mary Irene taught her students about volcanoes, the weather, glaciers, the earth's crust, the earth atmosphere, and the earth's inner core.

Sister Mary Kevon, physiology teacher, aimed this year to teach her students much about the human body. Students studied about different parts and systems of the body. They also learned about blood pressure, how blood pressure affects the human body, muscle tissue, cell organization and organs of the human body.

No matter what kind of science a student was interested in, the science department was sure to have a science course to meet her needs.

1. Rita Axe listens attentively to Sister Mary Irene's description of the experiment involving the porosity and permeability of various rocks. 2. Mrs. Rosa demonstrates the location of the pressure points in a headache on Ailyn Regueryra. 3. Debra McCormick locates the intestines while Bev Masney points out the stomach during Sister Mary Kevon's physiology class.

Numbers Really Count, Math Specialists Agree

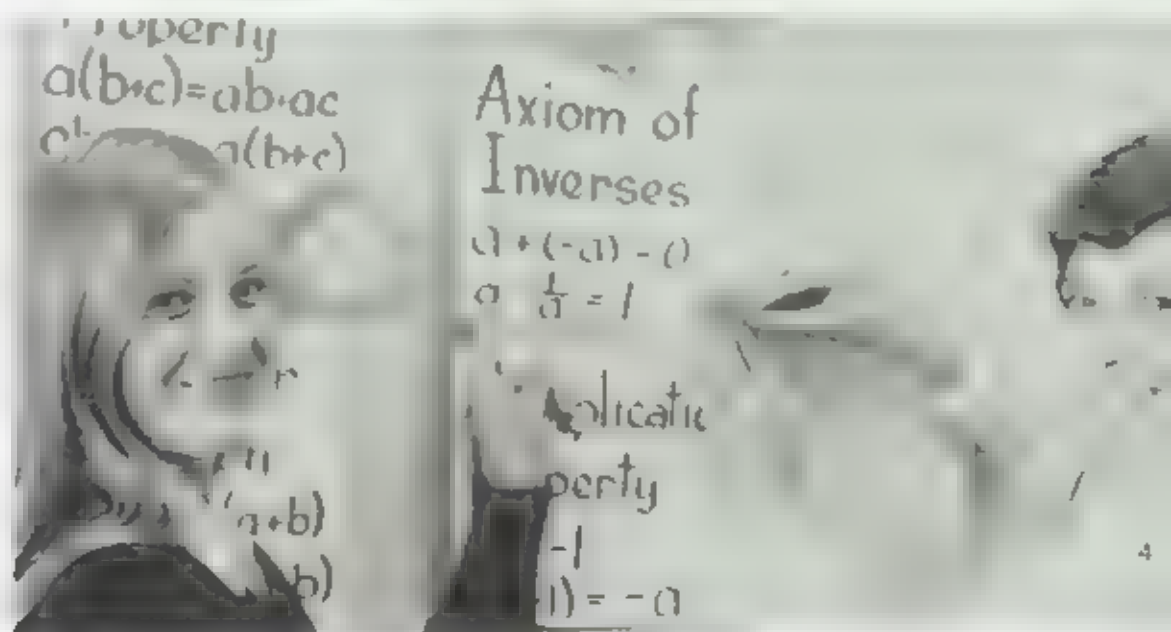

Freshman algebra students started out this year by learning the foundation rules of algebra and through the year they gradually progressed to solving and graphing more difficult problems. Hours of hard work and continual practice by the students paid off when it came to taking tests.

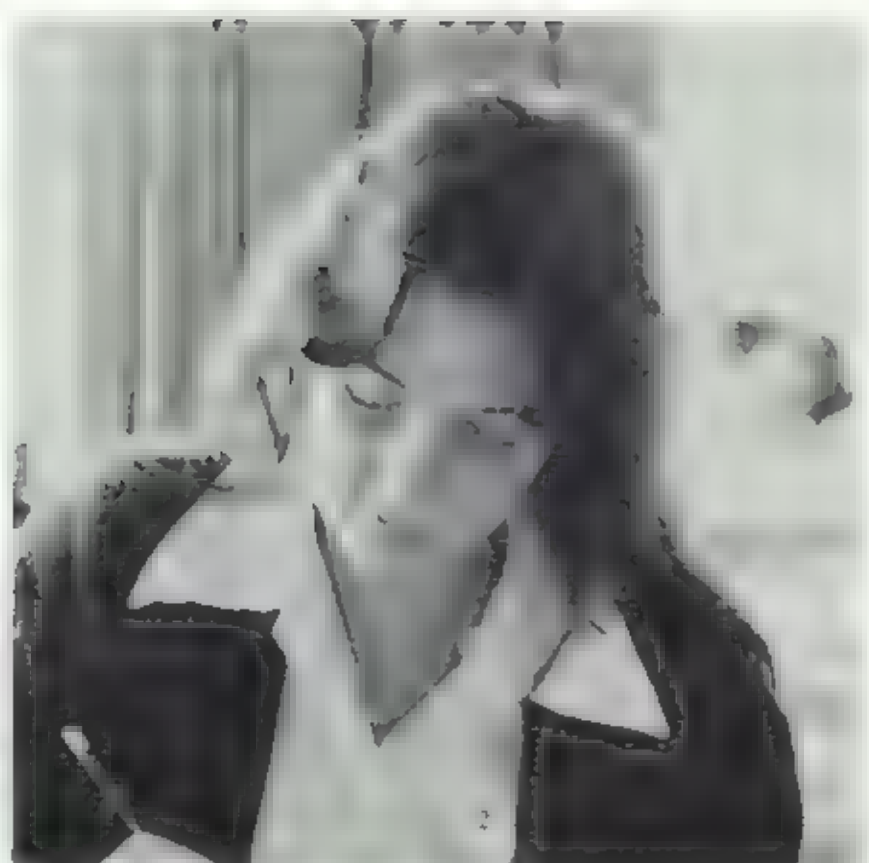

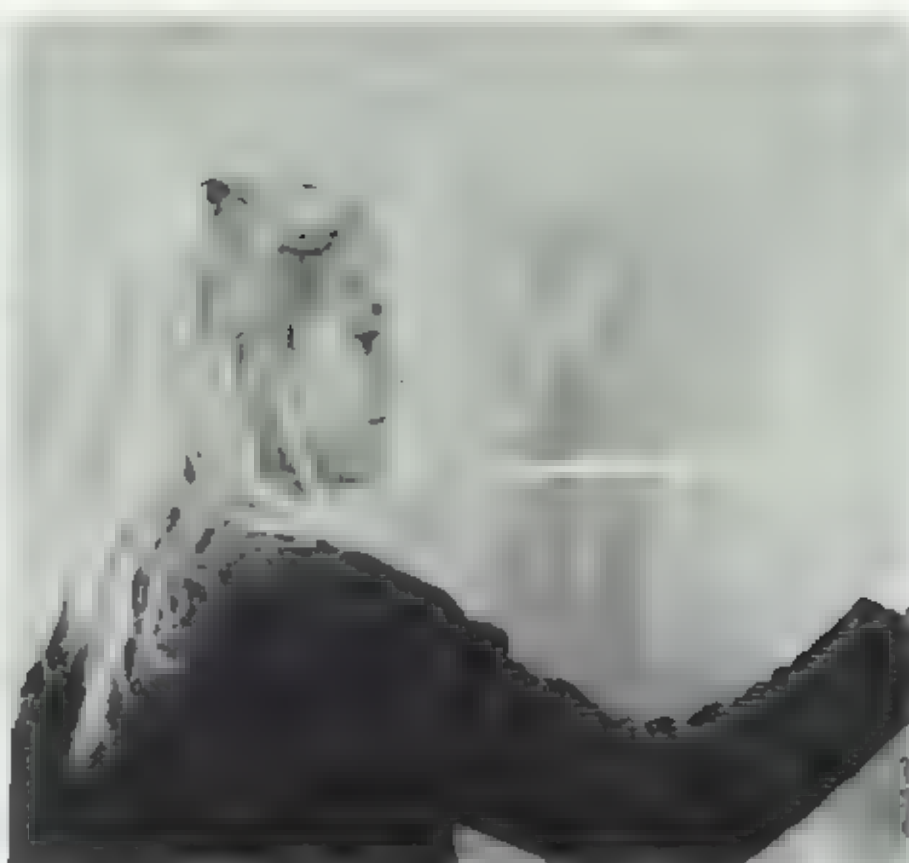

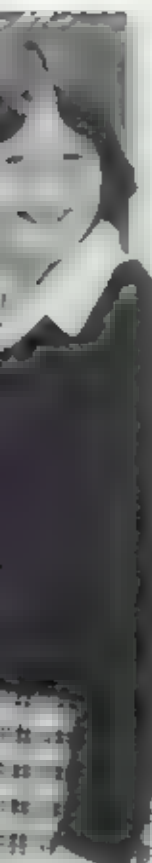

Meanwhile, dedicated sophomores worked hard at mastering geometry. They learned theorems and postulates and then applied them in proofs. They also learned about lines, spheres, angles and cones.

Juniors who wished to continue their studies in math took Algebra II. At the beginning of the year students refreshed their memories from freshman year and after doing this, they did more in-depth studies in algebra.

Seniors who took fourth year math prepared themselves for college. These students learned the abstracts of math. They also learned the importance of concentration.

Under the guidance of well trained teachers, students learned and progressed throughout the school year. Teachers helped their students understand applied problems, theorems, properties, axioms, polynomials, equations, inequalities and many more aspects of math.

ND Business Classes Prepare For Success

Many business students learned this year how to be secretaries. But there was much more taught than just how to handle accounts, neatness, manners, consumer economies and many more things. They also spent time on correct grooming and stylish dressing. Many of these things are useful in everyday life, and one doesn't have to be a secretary to use them.

Business teachers Sister Mary Anna Therese, Sister Mary Eventia, Sister Mary Virgie and Mrs. Audrey Weis-Maag worked this year to teach their students as much as possible in limited time. These teachers taught a wide range of courses from Typing I to data processing.

Individual study and the development of skills are necessary for success in the business world. Each student had to put forth her best effort. She had to practice and practice until she made her work nearly perfect.

Machines are important in the Business Department. Students use the typewriter, the copy machine, the composition machine, the adding machine, the scanner, duplicating machines and many other machines. In an age of growing technology and big business, students prepared to become a living part of this world.

Alert Students Listen To History's Biography

Freshman history classes this year were geared toward the inquiry into history. Students learned the steps of inquiry and then applied the steps to their classwork. Students also learned how to find the historical value in a documents

American history, a required course, was taught to sophomores and juniors. Unlike last year when teachers tried to teach all of American history in two semesters, this year the American History courses were a semester long and they concentrated on different parts of our American heritage for instance, if one took the course called Colonial America she had one whole semester on just the founding of our country

Seniors studied about our government in civics. Seniors also had opportunities to take optional courses such as Ethnic Studies or Asian Studies

German Asserts Itself As Loved Language

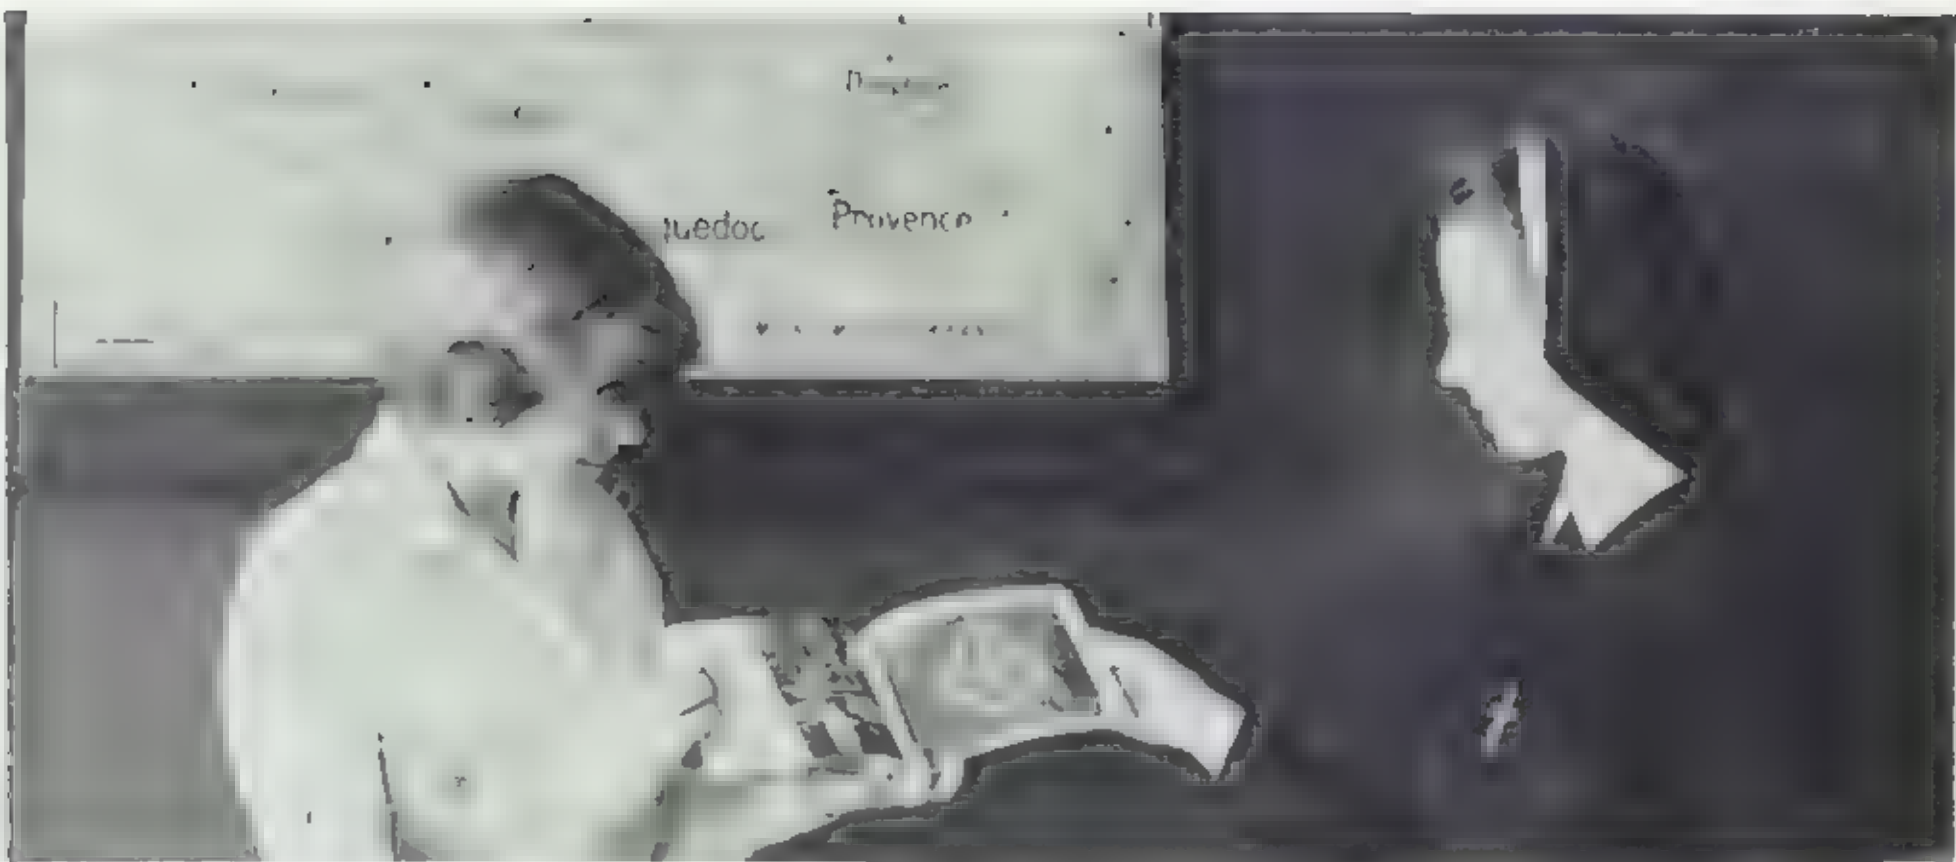

Reciting dialogues and doing listening exercises played an important role in the learning experience of German students this year. German teacher, Mrs. Paula Fogt geared her third and fourth year students toward writing and reading techniques, while she stressed listening and speaking abilities with her first and second year students.

On special days students watched "Guten Tag" films which helped them with their listening abilities and their understanding of the German culture. However, days such as this would not have been complete without Mrs. Fogt's sharing first hand information about the German culture.

NDA German students this year strove to learn a language, not only to learn the written and spoken word, but also to learn of the people and to learn of the nation, Germany.

1. German III students, Mary Liskewski and Jane Torti; read from the German books available in their department. 2. Roberta Jaskolsk translates a German fairytale in German IV. 3. Jennifer Liskewski and Anita Schmitz point out interesting sights from Bonn, Deutschland.

Students Learn French Culture By Discovery

French teachers, Sister Mary Tresa and Sister Mary Elayne taught their first and second year students the fundamentals of the language. Third and fourth year students continued to build their French vocabulary, and labored over correct French grammar.

Very much practice and study was a must in French classes. As a drill for vocabulary words, students played games such as French baseball. Students used dialogues, tapes, exercises, and records to help in their vocabulary and grammar.

French students learned the costumes and culture of France. They learned the customs and the culture through such means as films, songs, and the sharing of personal experiences.

French students are the first to admit that French is hard to learn, but they also are the first to admit that learning French was fun.

1. Dana Bussien shows Sister Mary Elayne French literature from Paris and Versailles. 2. Lisa Braun and Robin Huntley converse about a poem, written for French II. 3. Becky Sattler reads her French composition to the French IV class.

ND Students Acquire Eloquence in Espanol

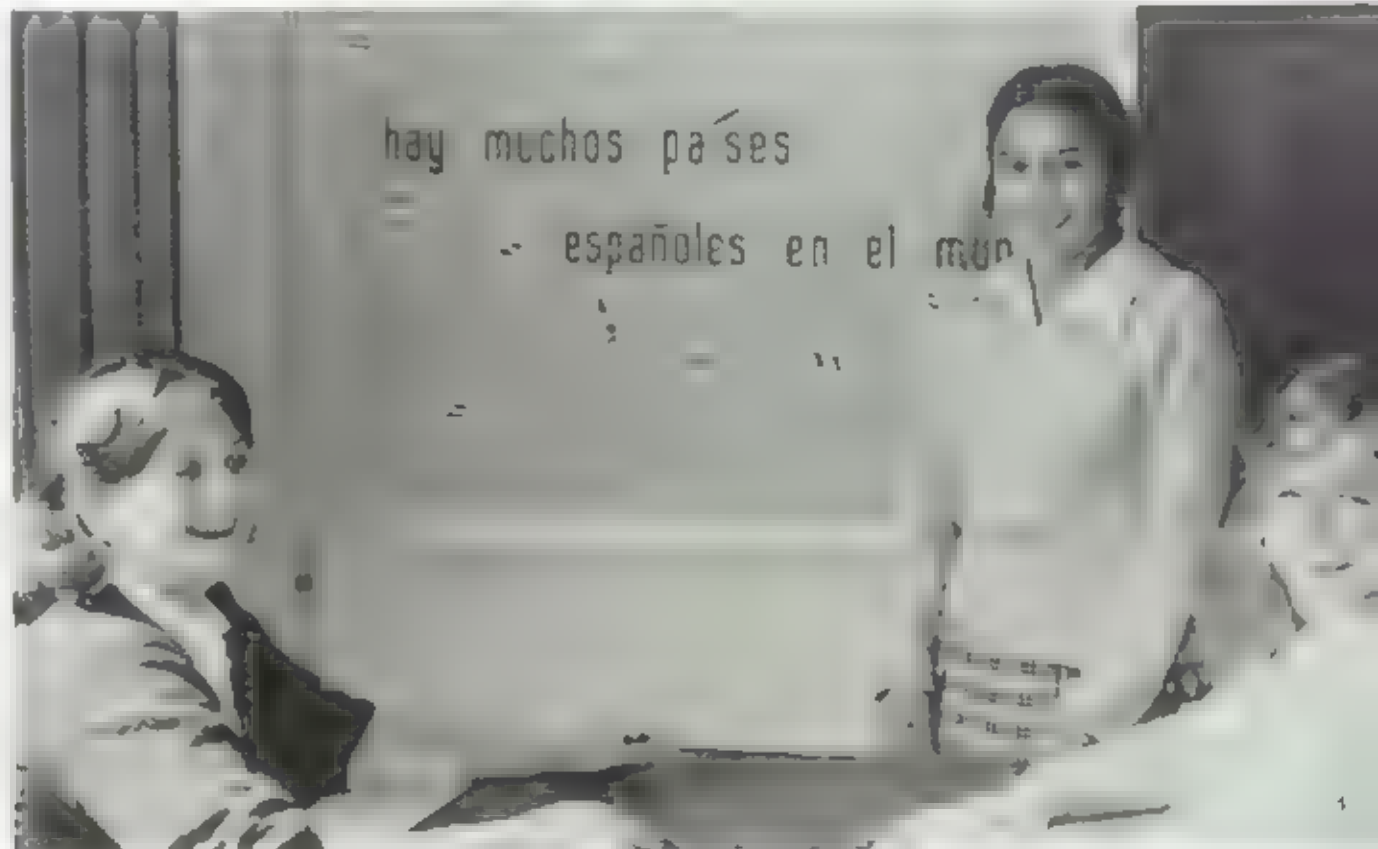

Spanish students at NDA tried constantly this year for a better understanding of their language. Aided by varied means, girls became accustomed to Spanish in a genuine atmosphere prompted by their teachers.

Tapes, drills and dialogues gave pupils practice in speaking the language correctly. From the simple nouns and sentences to the more complicated verb structures, Spanish scholars worked to keep this language alive.

Activities covered a wide range. Students dived full force into the intricacies of Spanish culture, an aspect of the course necessary for absolute understanding. Reading and reciting from the textbook, and singing Spanish songs completed the variety.

Why do girls choose this fast-moving language at NDA? Because their instructors, Sister Mary Myriam and Mrs. Catherine Cook take Spanish seriously, but at the same time keep classes action-filled and make them a true learning experience. Freshman through senior year, NDA's senioritas build up cultural background as well as fluency in speaking for future use wherever they may need it.

1. Beth Merkle and Yvonne Alexander complete workbook exercises. 2. Colleen Eckhart and Susan Jones practice Spanish dialogue. 3. Rhea Neuser, Conna Martinez and Deborah Kieffer are caught in class time in front of Spanish bulletin board.

Ancient Cultures Come Alive in New Studies

Greek studies at NDA began last year. In the first year, scholars concentrated on the declension and conjugation of verbs to learn the language for translation. Their large project at the end of the year was to read and translate the First Book of the Anabasis written in Greek.

Second year students took a trip to the Toledo art museum to view the exhibit "Silver for the Gods," thus enriching their knowledge of Greek culture. Also, the Catabasis, another Greek writing, was translated into English for depth in comprehension. Sister Mary Immaculate instructed the girls in this ancient tongue, now becoming revived at NDA.

Latin I, II, III, and IV came in handy for those who participated in this course this year. Even though it was believed that Latin was a dead language, ND students proved this theory wrong through their great response in size of classes.

Sister Mary Myriam and Sister Mary Immaculate helped their students understand Latin so they could apply it to other subjects involving large vocabulary usage.

1. Latin comes alive for all the second year students. 2. Terri Twaddle translates English into Greek. 3. Su tana Shaheed and Theresa Richards search through Latin IV text books for elusive vocab words.

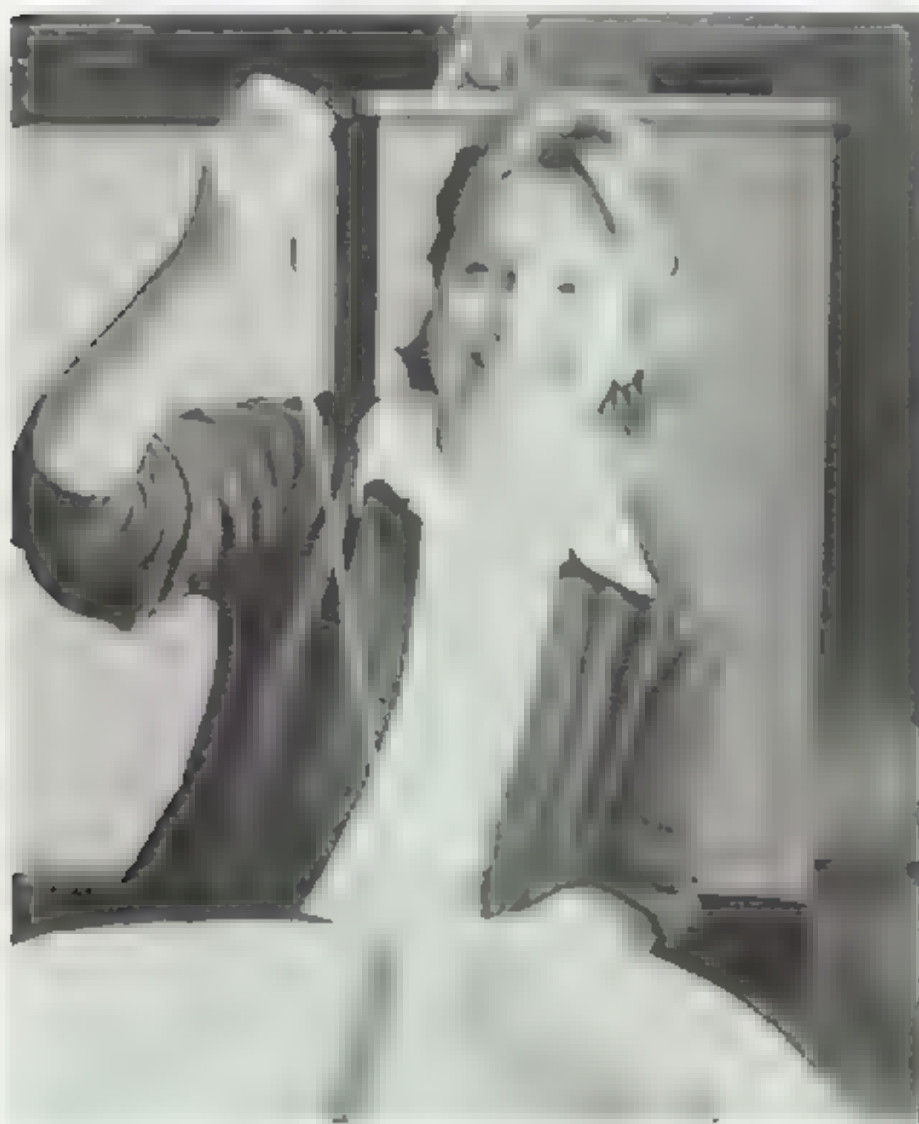

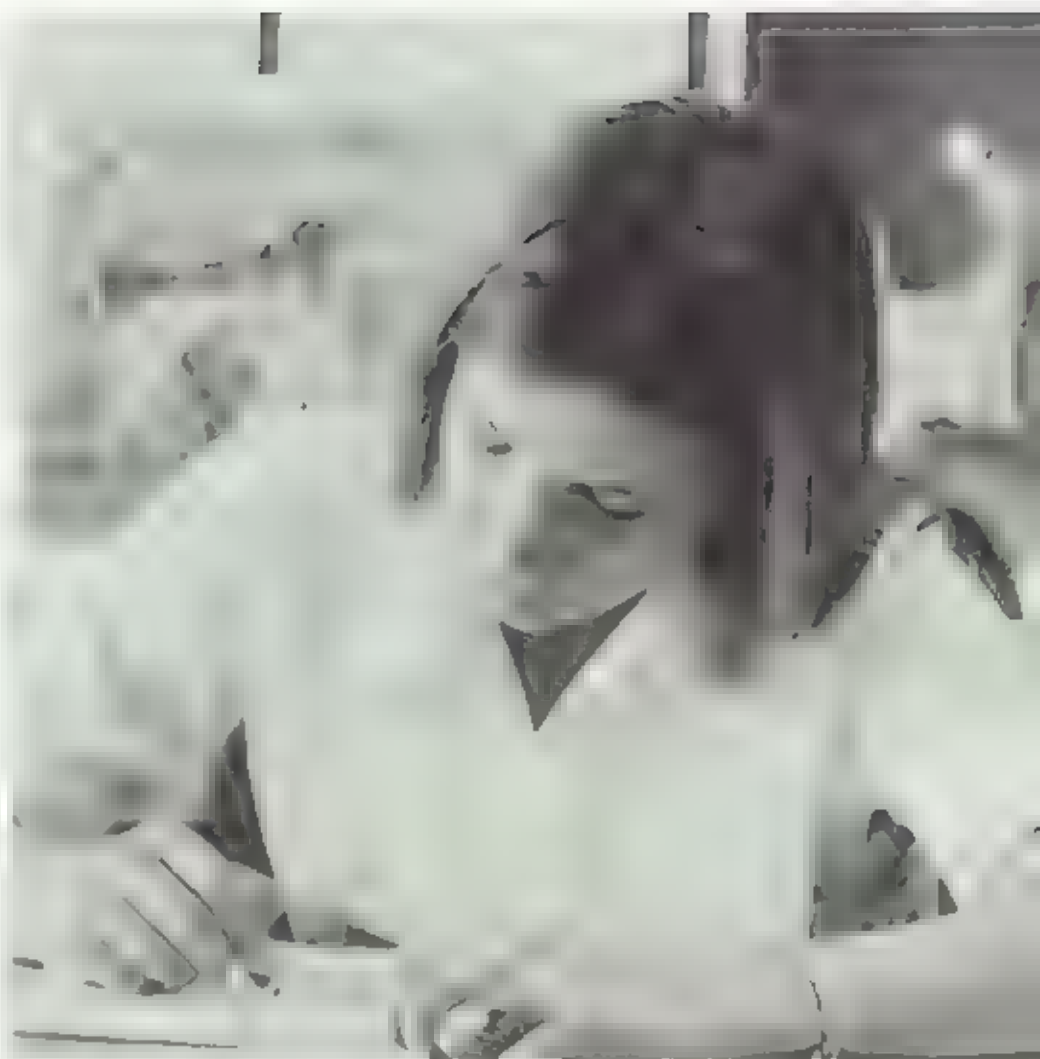

Brushes Give Creative Touch To Art Classes

Paint, brushes, pencils, and creative minds have been in action all year producing unique and inventive designs in art. The major program under the artistic direction of Sister Mary Magdila, and the basic art program headed by Sister Mary Carmela have done much to widen their students' creative responses.

Girls dabbled in various art forms ranging from calligraphy and illustration to oil and acrylic techniques. Each year in the art program built upon the others to strengthen the talents and knowledge of each student as an individual. After being in an art class for a few months, students recognized particular styles that their classmates possess. Even when given the same lines and colors, each girl used her talents in a unique fashion.

In addition to growth in personal style, major art students experienced history classes which helped them learn the styles of the great masters as well. The program centered around European area architecture. NDA's artists will never forget the exquisite features of Byzantine arches and breath-taking Gothic Cathedrals. Through attentiveness and creativity, art at Notre Dame became an expressively meaningful experience.

Learning Sewing Arts Prepares Homemakers

Learning to save money through sewing, Sister Mary Gregory's students this year studied all facets of fashion. Girls learned the colors and designs best suited for themselves individually. From the best way to choose a flattering pattern to the finished product, NDA's seamstresses worked carefully for good results.

At the start of the year, students learned the basics about fabric grain and cutting patterns. Through audio-visual aids, including tapes and films, the simple details of correct sewing were perfected.

After the first seam was stitched, pupils worked on through the year, creating fashion after fashion.

Any problems the girls came across taught them skills, and they learned from their mistakes. When the last thread was cut, the NDA fashion creators knew the satisfaction of admitting "Yes, I made it myself!"

Sewing is a skill useful in many phases of life. As a housewife, sewing things for oneself and her family is easy as well as economical. A career in sewing? Of course! Professional seamstresses are in great demand, and retain their individuality, carrying out their ideas within their work. As girls found out this year, the art of sewing is a skill that once learned will be used and reused all throughout life.

Foods, Family Living Classes Point to Future

The tantalizing smells from room 108 filled the first floor hallway almost every day this year. Foods class, directed by Sister Mary Margaret Ann, stressed cooking, baking, and frying skills. Students learned the basics about making balanced good-to-eat meals. They also learned how to make snacks and desserts such as carmel corn and even pumpkin pie around Thanksgiving time.

A good home situation became the aim of every family living student's life. From child care to money management, how to care for a baby, and the correct way to write a check, Sister Mary Margaret Ann explained the best and most profitable methods. Students acted out family situations whereby they could form their own opinions on matters and see how necessary talking and listening is, in a family environment.

1. Lisa Garis, Mary Kay Zajak, Shan Henzler, and Martha Domito perform a skit they wrote in family living. 2. Martha Domito and Leslie Bieganski prepare a feast. 3. Andrea Day and Leslie Bieganski tie aprons — step number 1 as they prepare to cook.

Staff Knows Success Secret — Togetherness

This year the journalism staff attempted to publish a school paper and a yearbook worthy of Notre Dame. The staff was made up of second and third year journalism students, under the supervision of Sister Mary Carolanne.

Girls in J-156 became a family united in the common interest of producing written communications. From this simple introduction, many of them hope to pursue careers in the communications field. They now know that journalism includes many demanding skills in addition to writing. Above all they have learned of the field of journalism as an apostolate — a way of bringing Christ to His waiting world.

Deadlines were more than just work, work and more work. They let the staff come together and make memories.

...~ Activities ~...

Participation in school activities and events provides a new learning experience. It is an opportunity to give of oneself and to use one's talents in a practical way.

Student government is an important aspect of Notre Dame. Girls who desire to lead are committed to guide and to direct courses of action to serve the students.

Clubs are for those interested in cultures of different countries, those who are studying science and business, and those involved in athletics.

The Notre Dame League and the Father's Club and the Alumnae show the family's interest. These groups are always involved in various projects for the benefit of Notre Dame.

With so many activities to choose from, it is only up to each girl to become involved. Activities at Notre Dame aim to involve every girl and parent. They are the bond which helps to cement the strong spirit of the Notre Dame family.

Student Council Accepts Challenge for 1977-78

Friendship, cooperation, service, respect for authority and peers, gurgles of laughter, and creative imaginations are all tangible characteristics of the spirit leaders of Notre Dame Academy who, with the faculty and students, produce a burgeoning enthusiasm and good fellowship.

The Student Council officers: President Christine Skowronek, Vice President Patricia Ceglie, Secretary Suzanne Stelzer and Treasurer Stephany Czech, guided by Sister Mary Kevon, opened the year with their theme of "We'll do it your way . . . to make your dreams come true." Their theme has been illustrated in the activities presented to the student body.

The Columbus Day Picnic jumped, popped, and tricycled to success, along with grimacing pumpkins at the Halloween Party. Girls absorbed the delicious aromas of delectable treats wafting up to the third floor, reminding them of another Student Council bake sale. Dipping, gliding and gyrating were all part of Student Council dances and skating parties. The assemblies produced by Chris, Patty, Suzanne, and Stephany encouraged students to participate — bringing out the ham in them, and hopefully coming out of it without egg on their faces.

Paper drives spurred on class competition yet harmony returned in a Student Council sponsored Mass.

The alarm clock screamed. "I drag myself out of bed, reliving last night's dream." Could it all have been a dream? No, Student Council of 1977-78 was a reality. They made Notre Dame's dreams come true!

NDA Hosts "Olympics" At Columbus Day Gala

Our newly formed tradition, combining a Columbus Day picnic and "Olympic" games was altered for the 1977 season because of the unseasonably cool weather.

The festivities for this date were contained in the Notre Dame auditorium where a continuous round of cheers could be heard. These cheers originated, not merely from homeroom enthusiasm, but also from class spirit which only the gymnasium atmosphere could provide.

Contenders rallied on stage providing breath taking feats and nerve racking suspense. The events included the familiar tricycle race, balloon breaking contest and long awaited tug-of-war.

Due to foresight on the part of student council advisors and in view of the arrangement, the refreshments had to be withheld to prevent "accidents." However, this didn't phase the girls' tremendous support witnessed by ear splitting cheers and applause.

The freshmen proved to be a surprising force against innumerable odds, rising in triumph, and conquering a humiliated group of seniors in the tug of war.

Not to be outdone, a sophomore representative pedalled to victory over all four levels in the infamous tricycle race.

1 Freshmen await the sound of the gun for three legged race. 2. Juniors and seniors grab a tight hold on the rope as they anticipate tug-of-war, 3 Freshmen are quick-to-sit in this race as they attempt to pop their balloons. 4 Seniors Sue Sabo and Kim Dennis scurry towards the finish line on three legs. 5 Eager frosh trod toward the end of the gym.

Class Spirit Explodes With Mounds of Paper

Again this year, mountainous waves of paper invaded Notre Dame Academy. Girls bundled, bagged, weighed and stashed tons of newspaper and other newsprint media into huge semis. These vehicles were to transport the precious cargo to an insulating converter facility, which turned the mounds of paper and hours of time, toil, sweat and dedication into a considerable amount of money raised to buy necessary equipment for the school.

1. Patti McCain pauses to smile as she lifts a pile of papers on the truck. 2. Papers pile high when fathers and daughters work together. 3. Bundled and bagged these scraps worked hard for their class. 4. Stephanie Czech and Julie Nichols get a good laugh over weight.

Committee Chairmen Aid in SC Organization

This year Student Council thought it would be beneficial to bring more student participation into student government. The result was the formation of the committees. Their duties include working in cooperation with the Student Council officers to coordinate the activities. These committees are Liturgical Committee, Activities Committee, Spirit Committee, Service Committee, Safety and Citizenship Committee and Publicity Committee.

Three chairmen were chosen to head each committee. Two seniors and one junior carried out the responsibilities within the committees and took care of choosing their own members.

The Activities Committee was responsible throughout the year for activities such as decorating for Student Council Dance. The Service Committee sponsored a pro-life bracelet sale and the Spirit Committee ran various raffle ticket drives.

Each day (weather permitting) the Safety and Citizenship Committee raised the flag to display citizenship around Notre Dame.

The Publicity Committee publicized school sponsored activities and made everyone more aware of what was coming up. TGHE Liturgical Committee helped plan and promote various Masses throughout the year.

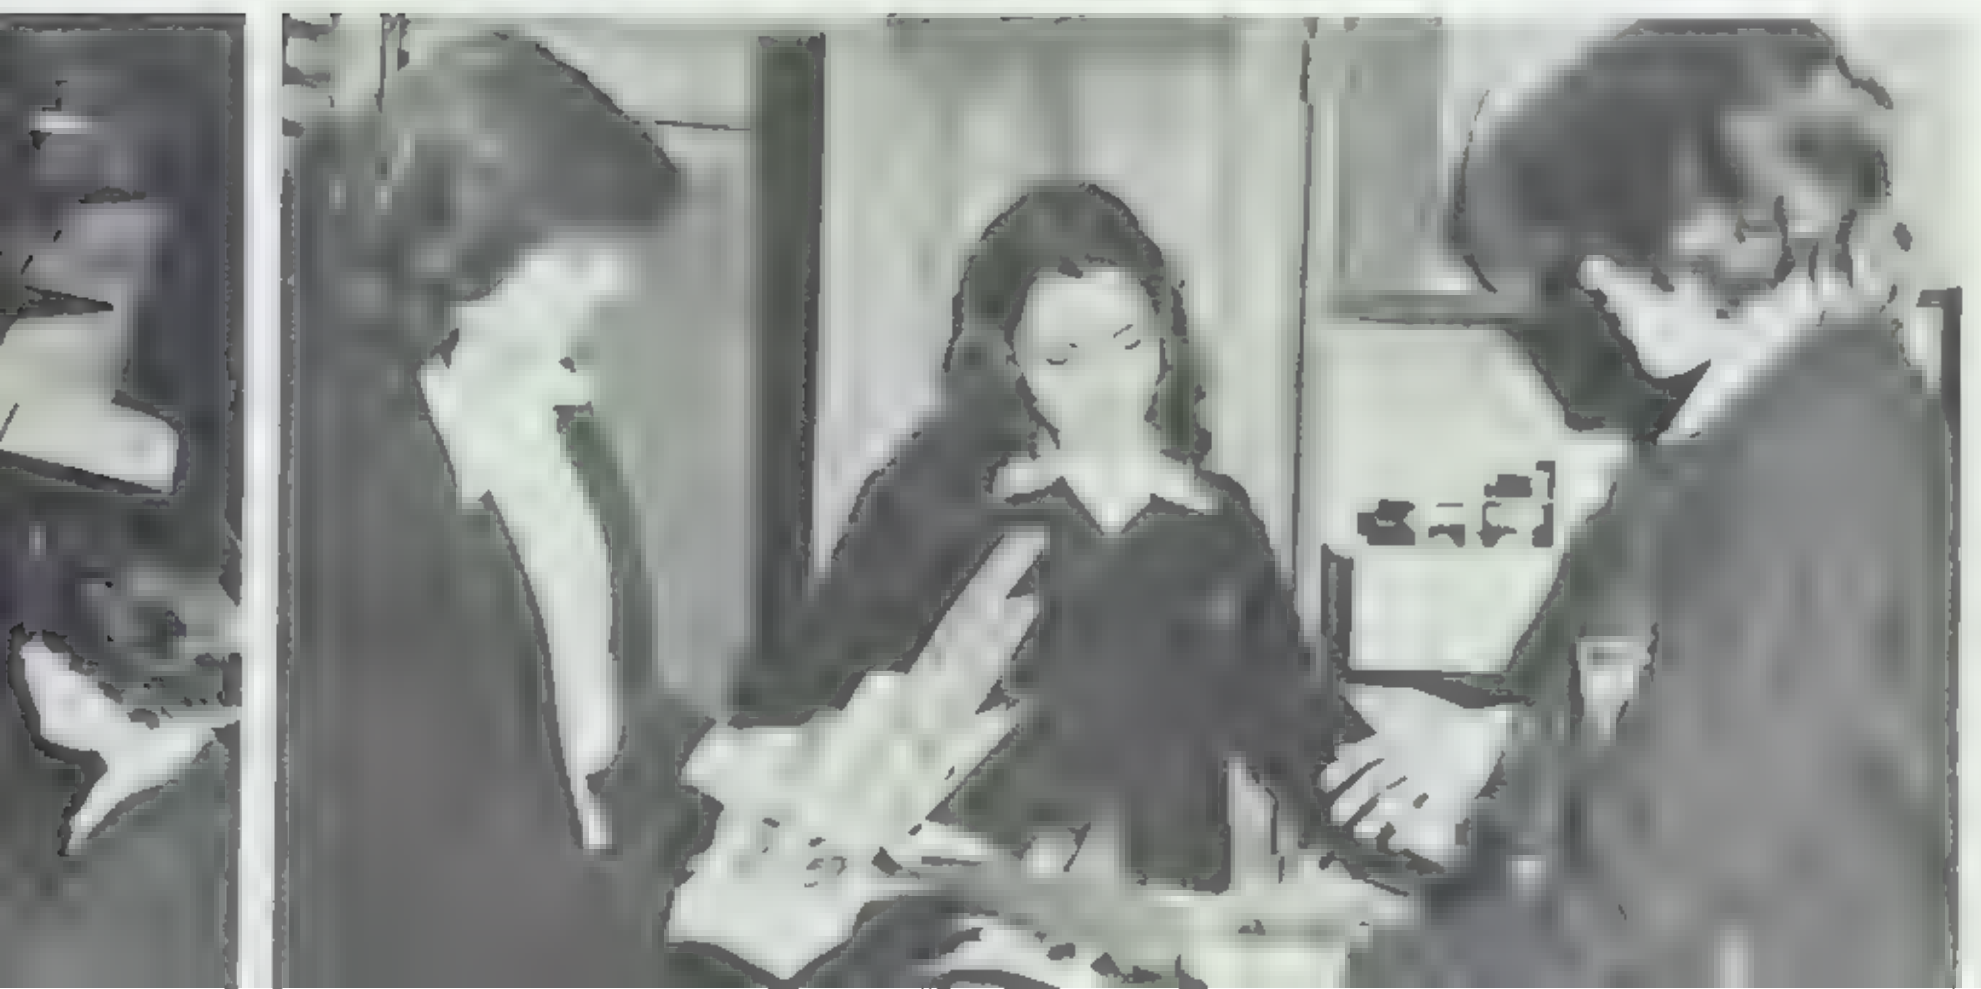

The new system proved effective and 1977-78 might be regarded as the start of something big for Notre Dame Student Council.

Katy Represents NDA At Titans' Homecoming

After an exciting three days in Washington, Katherine Schmidt, Notre Dame's representative for the St. John's Homecoming court, was whisked away to the traditional football game, Oct. 21. She arrived in time for the half-time activities and was later joined by other exhausted girls to cheer on the Titans. Victorious roars preceded the girls to the dance from the memorable defeat of Anthony Wayne with a fantastic score of 19-0.

St. John's has always warmed the hearts of the girls, and this warmth was highlighted by the band Masquarade as they rocked the couples to the theme "Enter My Dream."

A new tradition was added this year. The suspense of the Homecoming queen was held over until Saturday night. But the response of the dedicated as always was reassuring. Again this was a wonderful year for those loyal to the Titans of St. John's.

1. St. John's offense huddles to decide which of their clever plays to trust for an effective outcome. 2. The Titans' front line is ready for action in the homecoming game. 3. Katie Schmidt represents NDA at the homecoming festivities.

1. The Knights prepare the charge against Cardinal Stutch in their homecoming game. 2. The 1977-78 homecoming court includes Michelle Michalak and Shari Bridgman representing Notre Dame. 3. A St. Francis running back is downed during his attempt to drive for a victory. This didn't stop the Knights though. They went on to win the game.

"A Knight In the Sun" Captures Homecoming

The homecoming festivities at St. Francis began on Saturday, October 8, with the football contest against Cardinal Stutch at DeVillbiss. Micki Conklin, SUA, was crowned homecoming queen and Michelle Michalak and Shari Bridgman represented Notre Dame in the court. The Knights were victorious.

This victory set the mood for the dance that evening. "Mass Transit" provided the entertainment. The gym was decorated with fountains and palm trees. A lei of flowers was presented to each girl as she arrived. Seashells decorated the tables to add to the atmosphere, "A Knight In The Sun."

Girls Invite Dads For Night Out On The Town

Girls clustered in anticipation as their dates hung up their coats. The band could be heard warming up in the gym while the dads and daughters were lured by the delicious scents of chicken, mashed potatoes and assorted desserts provided by NDA food service and served by mothers.

After dinner this night of nights prepared for for weeks became a reality in the form of the father-daughter dance.

Special arrangements had been made to assure a great time for all participants.

The band chosen to entertain both father and daughter was said to be a successful choice.

Because of the tremendous crowd, couples were forced to spill over onto the auditorium floor, while those who dared to remain on the gym floor endured occasional shoves and bumps from their neighboring dancers.

Adding to the flavor of the evening was the historic World Series game which both father and daughter delighted in together in a special way, viewing it from the dining hall television.

1. Joan Vanderkelen and her father dance with the rest of the square perfect their square dancing techniques. 2. Father and daughter share a waltz. 3. A proud father dances with his daughter. 4. Couples enjoy square dancing on the auditorium floor at the father-daughter dance.

Things Go Bump In the Night In Late October

Things almost went bump in the night of the Halloween party when a caterpillar on roller skates paraded before the judges, capturing their hearts, and stole the first place prize a second year in a row for the best group.

Other categories of costumes worth judging were prettiest, funniest and best disguised. A special appearance was made by an alumna gill monster.

Other recreative activities included the annual pumpkin carving contest to which all girls contributed either their design, their agile fingers or furnished finishing materials to their proud creation.

Bobbing for apples highlighted the evening; it was supplemented by delicious Halloween treats and beverages served in the dining hall.

After the fun and frolic, loyal committee members remained to clean up showing their dedication to the spirit of the occasion.

1. The caterpillar on roller skates parades into the gym and captures the first prize for best group costume. Its sections of the caterpillar are: Jane and Wendy, Carol, Carol, Mary, Catherine, Susan Lynch, Jane, Tim, and John. 2. A woman in a mask, E. A proud mother and father pose with their daughter, baby, and baby's portrait.

League Involves NDA Mothers and Alumnae

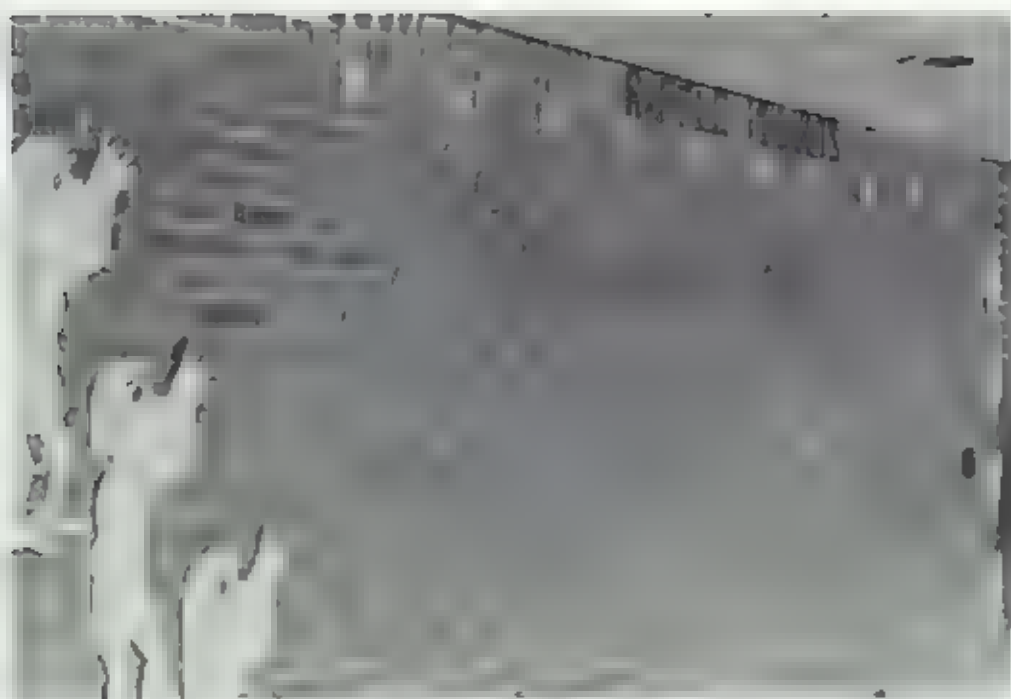

The Notre Dame Academy League is partially responsible for the growth and upkeep of NDA. The League is composed of Notre Dame alumnae, mothers of present students, mothers of former students and other women interested in supporting Notre Dame. The purpose of the League is to support the work and teachings of the Sisters of Notre Dame in providing each student with a quality Catholic education. Sister Mary Patricie is the moderator, and works with the president Mrs. JoAnne Stelzer.

Some activities that the League was involved in this year included the Membership Tea and Card Party in October and a second Card Party in late January.

The Annual Celestial Ball which is held at the University Student Union and sponsored by the League and the Father's Club was scheduled for February 4 but because of the "Blizzard of '78" was cancelled and rescheduled for the fall of the 1978-79 year.

1. Jacobsons' sponsored fashion show, interests women in the latest styles
2. Faithful mothers pay annual membership fee to the league. 3. League members break diet rules to enjoy a tasty lunch

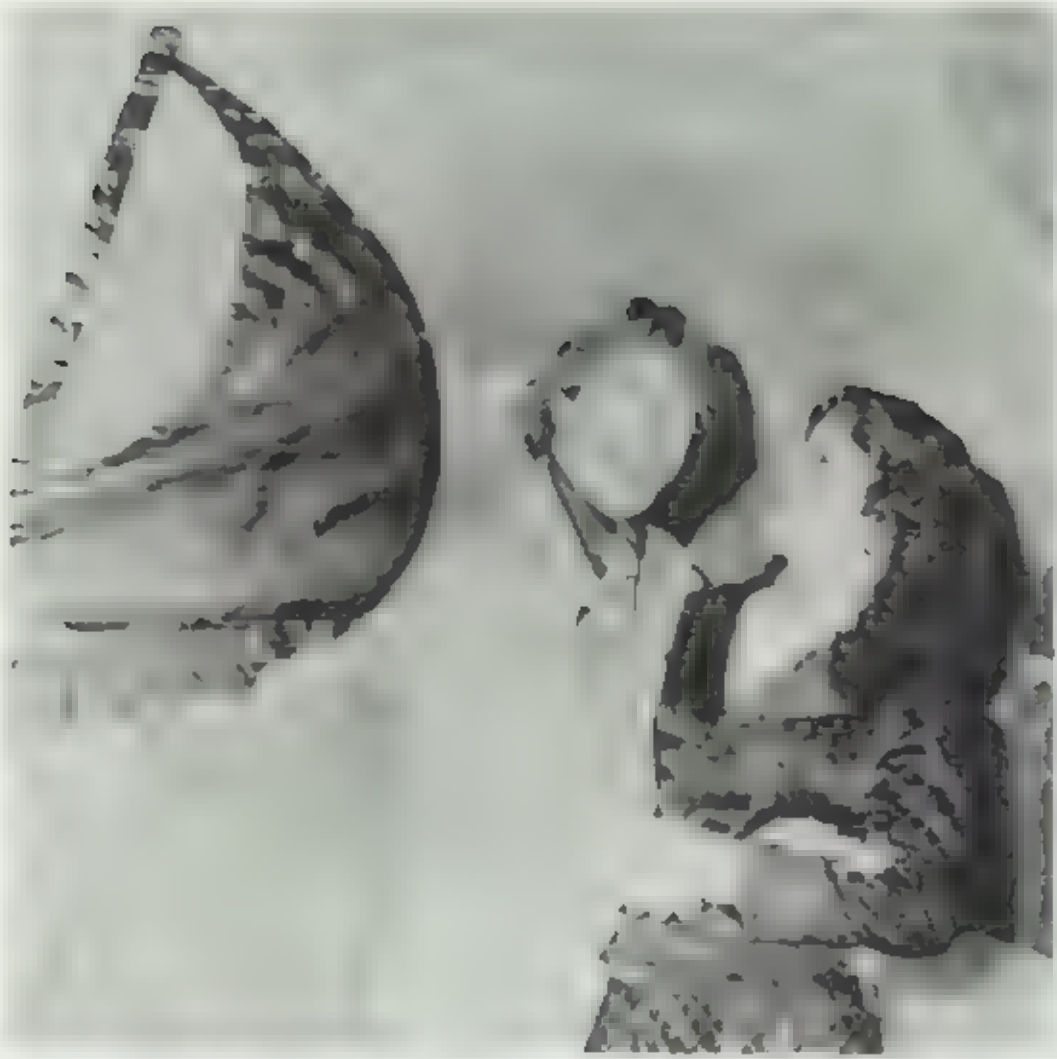

Fathers' Club Aids ND With Time And Projects

Along with the Alumnae and the Notre Dame League in uniting for the common purpose of promoting the good of NDA, is the Fathers' Club. The Fathers' Club is responsible for fund raising activities, donating money to increase educational advancements and improve facilities. They are, with the League, credited with the annual Celestial Ball. President Mr. James Pullella has worked hard to promote the Fathers' club's ticket drive for the benefit of Notre Dame. One of the most important functions of the Fathers' Club is uniting parents of NDA'ers

1. The Fathers' Club sponsors our annual Catholic education ticket drive witnessed by the bulletin board prepared by the Spint committee. 2. Susan Lynch and a member of the Fathers' Club withstand the elements while bundling papers for the paper drive. 3. The world series made an interesting hit at the Father-Daughter Dance. Father and daughter shared not only dance experiences but new insights into sports strategy

“Mass Transit” Swings Dates at SC Dance

Friday, November 18, Student Council sponsored their annual date dance. This year's theme was “Come Sail Away,” chosen by the student body from a number of colorful suggestions. At the entrance was a fountain and a bridge that greeted the couples as they entered the gym which was beautifully decorated with draped fish nets; the tables were covered with white and blue cloths upon which sailboats were placed, all to coordinate with the theme. Punch, nuts and mints were served as refreshments in the dining hall. “Mass Transit” was the band featured. They played many contemporary tunes.

Class of '79 Receives Traditional NDA Rings

December 16, 1977 marked the date of the annual Junior Ring Ceremony, an event designed to bond the class of '79 with all the alumnae and present seniors of Notre Dame Academy as a symbol of loyalty and devotion to our alma mater.

The entire student body and parents of the juniors assembled in the morning for a combination of Christmas and ring day Mass planned by the juniors. Father blessed the rings during the offertory.

Following the mass the juniors processed out of the auditorium into the dining hall to receive their rings.

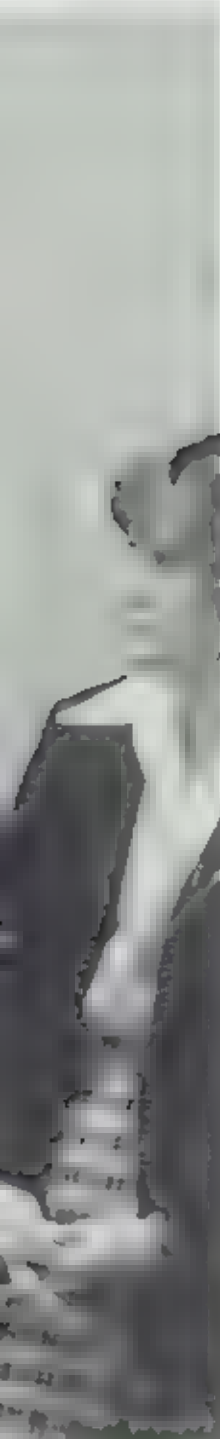

Sister Mary Patrice, principal, and Sister Mary Louise Ann, Notre Dame Provincial Superior, spoke on the significance of the class unity, but which unites us with Notre Dame Academies all over the world.

The rings were then given to the girls by Sister Mary Louise Ann. Annette Ney, class president, led the juniors in pledging fidelity and loyalty to the ideals of Mary, the patroness of Notre Dame Juniors. Then she stated a dedication to Mary and concluded the ceremony with the singing of the Alma Mater.

1. Christina Good solemnly accepts her ring from Sister Mary Louise Ann, SND. 2. Jamesetta Palmer delights in her newly acquired treasure. 3. Teresa Warr and Carol Vendemo reflect upon the meaning which their rings signify. 4. Alumnae mothers recall with pride the anniversary of their union with Notre Dame and Our Lady.

Seniors See Royalty For St. Lucy's Day

The traditional Scandinavian custom of honoring the oldest daughter in the family was again carried out at Notre Dame this year. On December 13, the feast of Saint Lucy, the eldest daughters in the school were honored by their younger sisters, the freshmen, sophomores, and the juniors and the faculty. The youngest in the school gave each senior a "rice crispy treat" wrapped in cellophane and tied with a ribbon. The Sophs honored the seniors by giving each a yellow carnation with a green ribbon, representing the class of '78's colors of green and gold. Their little sisters bestowed on them crowns with each girl's name printed on the front. This made the seniors' day complete.

NDA Girls Granted Winter Wonderland

After several weeks of planning, "A Winter Night's Dream" became a reality on December 21 in the form of the 1978 Christmas Dance.

Christmas queen Patricia Comes reigned over the dreamland after being crowned by the retiring 1977 Queen Lynn Hadad. She was joined by her court and their escorts. The band, Live Wire, appropriately dedicated a song, especially composed for the evening, to the queen and her court while they danced in the hushed excitement of congratulations.

The court consisted of two representatives from both the junior and senior classes. Regina Crawford and Chris Skowronek represented the seniors and Adele Jason and Kathleen McLaughlin represented the juniors. The senior attendants were Carol Feltman, Ann Kappus, Susan Pollock, Mary Lynn Reynolds, Bernadette Restivo, Teresa Scalzo, and Katherine Schmidt. The junior attendants were Stephany Czech, Dawn Dougherty, Carol Korpics, Susan Lynch, Annette Nev, Linda Noe, Susan Priebe, and Lisa Reinbolt.

The evening concluded with a gentle whisper of snow, impressing a lasting memory in the hearts of all who attended.

Student Body Proffers Honor to Queen of May

The month of May is always set aside to honor the Mother of Christ. We at Notre Dame Academy crowned Mary in this month. The students and faculty gathered around the circle to sing praises and form a living rosary for our patroness of spring. Laura Balish received the honor of placing the crown of flowers upon the statue of the Blessed Mother. Other selected seniors were proud to be in the court to praise the Queen and place baskets of flowers from the homerooms at the base of her statue.

On this day also, the exchange of power from 1976-77 student council officers to the 1977-78 student council officers took place. The procession to the crowning ceremony followed.

After the crowing ceremony, as in past years, each class planted a tree. This act suggests that growth of the tree through the years progresses along with the maturing of each class. Tree planting makes class spirit and unity evident. A tree dedication was read and songs selected by members of the class were sung at each planting site.

1. Laura Balish takes pride in the great honor and privilege of crowning the Queen of May bestowed upon her by her fellow classmates and advisors.
2. The student body gathers to witness the solemn commemoration of Mary on Notre Dame Day.
4. The 1976-77 student council officers reflect upon the activities of the past and prepare to pass the responsibilities of their offices to competent leaders.
5. Carol Korpics, Dawn Peeps and Nancy Pullock lend a helping hand in the junior tree planting ceremony.

Spiritual Ways of Life Enrich New Vocations

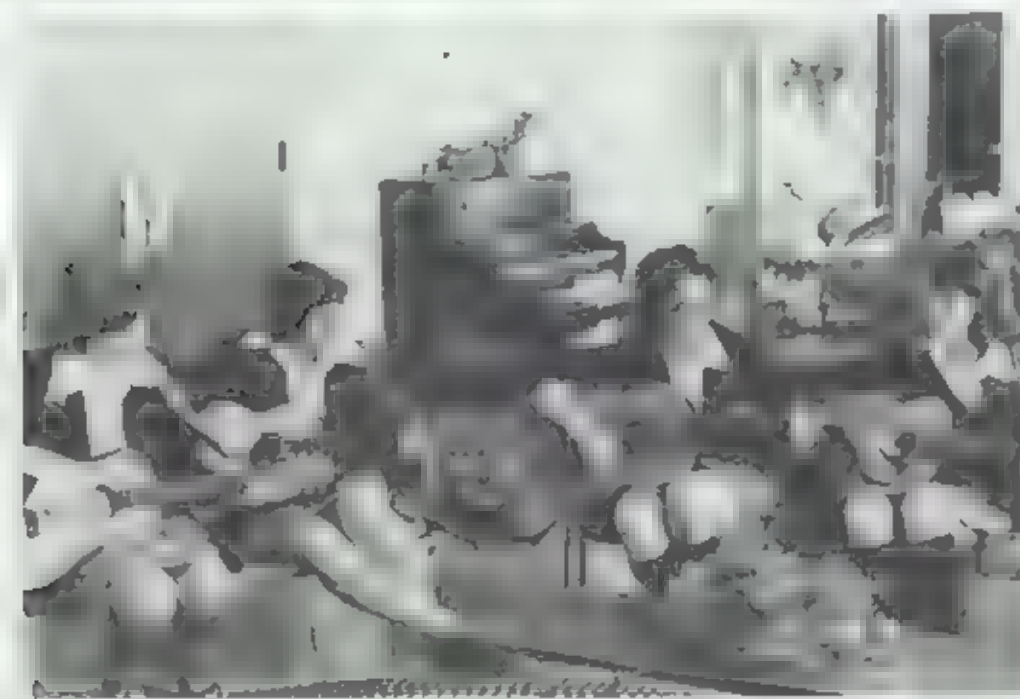

Who is an aspirant? She is a young woman, between the ages of 14 and 18, called by God, not as a member of a group, but as an individual. She is a young woman who recognizes God's calling and has the courage to answer at an early age.

What does an aspirant do? Believe it or not she does what every other normal teenager does. She loves. She gives of herself, time and talents. She enjoys and sometimes she cries, like every other teenage girl.

An aspirant's activities are countless. Whether she is playing tennis, sewing or making a birthday cake for her aspirant sister, it is certain she can feel confident in what she is doing because of the support and family togetherness found in the aspirant home.

It is true, that every aspirant, sometime during her aspirant days has heard people say, "Why aspirant though? Can't you enter after you finish high school?" Some young women feel it necessary to respond as soon as they discover their calling, and for some that comes after eighth grade. For others it maybe during high school, and for still others it may be after high school. Whenever the time one is called, it is a true grace that she follows that call and responds to Christ.

1. LaReine Mosely takes a quiet moment out to meditate before entering the busy world. 2. Ellen Griesser shows that the aspirancy is not all work and prayer - there is time for fun too. 3. Janine Ringwald, Peggy Malovrh and Cynthia Digget are engrossed in their books. 4. Lisa Fearn, Barbara Honigfort, Jane Duross and Carla Pomeroy conduct a sing-a-long. 5. The aspirant girls find that time in chapel is a rewarding spiritual experience. 6. The aspirant family, Ellen Griesser, Sister Mary Marguerita, Janine Ringwald, Lisa Fearn, Mary Fisher, Carla Pomeroy, Therese Morgan, Barbara Honigfort, Rose Stuparitz, Janet Dehner, LaReine Mosely, Teresa Richards, Jane Duross, Cynthia Digget, Sister Mary Christopher, and Peggy Malovrh.

Sports ~ ~ ~

A new age of advancement has virtually erupted in the sports world. Women athletes with determination, perseverance and talent participate in all types of sports and in the field of sports broadcasting. Women are respected for their achievements as they surpass the expected goals.

Notre Dame's tennis team competed in city league matches, and in sectional tournaments. During the winter months the athletic club sponsored weekly ski trips. Swimming and diving were popular in the spring along with a newly established track team.

Basketball intramurals provided an atmosphere of enthusiasm. It was not always the victory that was important though. The true winners come from the classes which showed great spirit, and remained good sports — whatever the outcome.

Fencing, Golf, Field Hockey Develop Girls' Abilities.

Under the skillful guidance of the new physical education advisor, Miss Pamela Niedermeier, freshman and sophomore girls have expanded their abilities, acquired new talents, and developed co-ordination in a variety of sports.

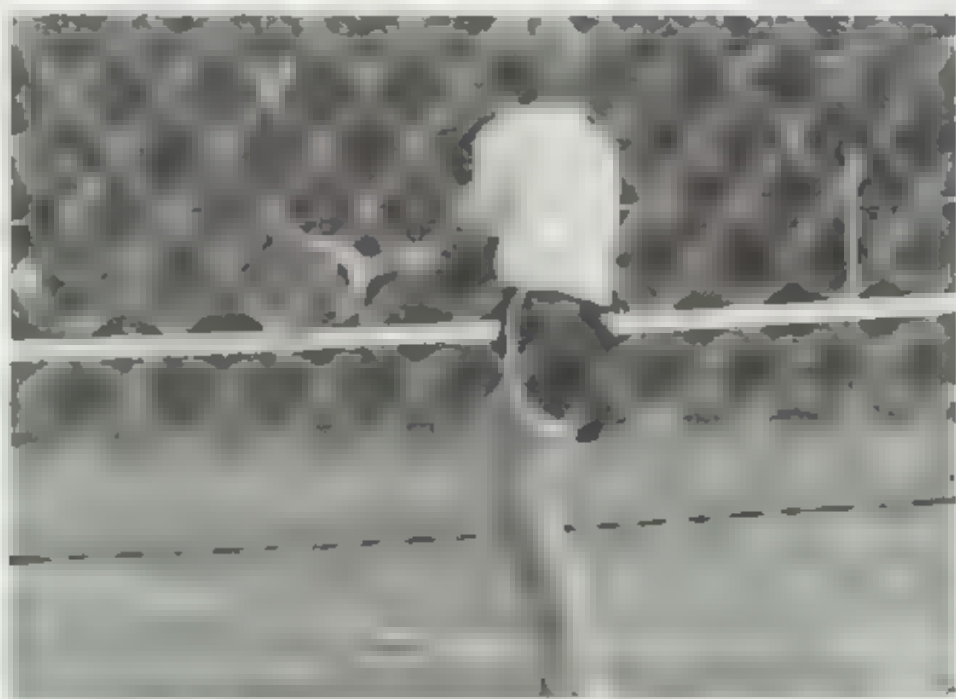

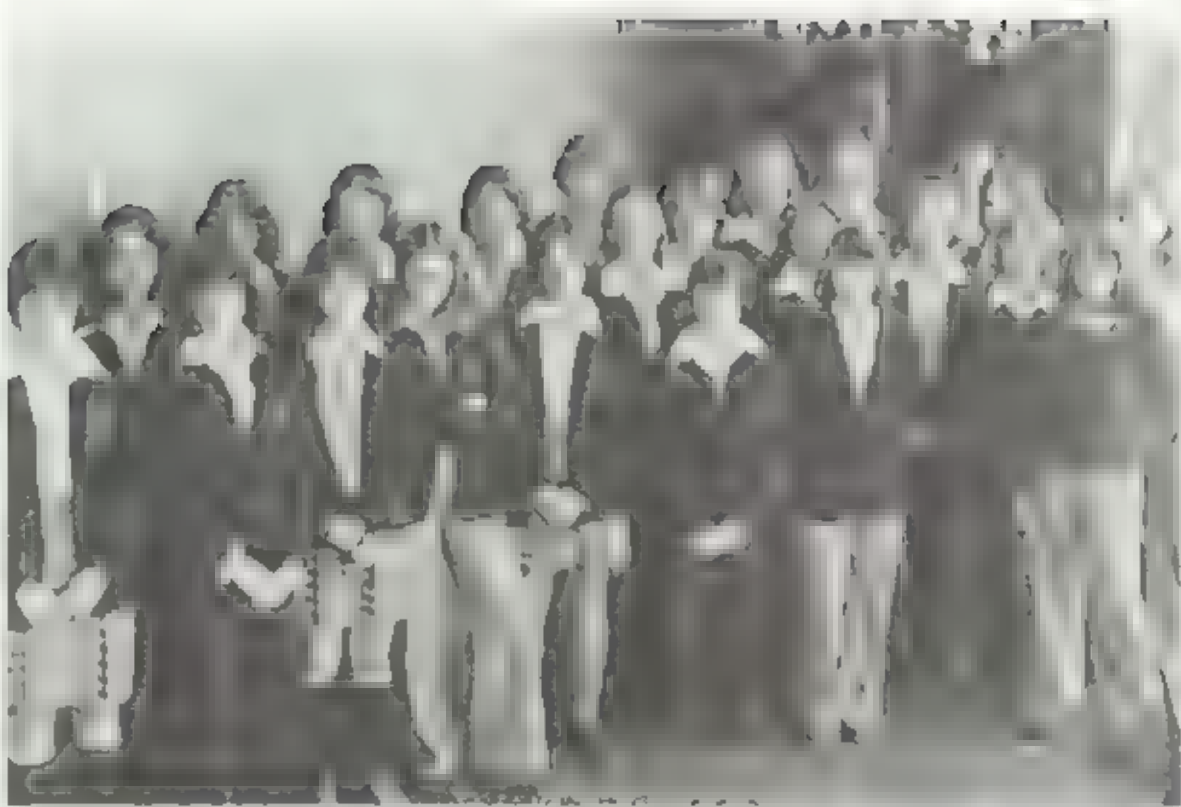

Fencing, golfing, and field hockey are just a few of the seasonal activities which the girls participated in.

On fall days the girls braved the brisk weather and bundled out onto the field to use the defensive and offensive tactics taught by their instructor. All of these techniques in co-ordination produced a strenuous but enjoyable game.

"Forward, backward, on guard!" were just a few of the commands Miss Niedermeier gave to her students during their fencing exhibitions. Agility, concentration, and endurance are a few of the qualities the girls found make up a fine fencerwoman.

The basic fundamentals of golf such as teeing off, driving, and putting sent the girls into a "swinging" gym year.

N.D. Athletic Department Experiences Expansion

This year under the guidance of new coaches and the four Athletic Club officers, Notre Dame Academy's physical fitness and extracurricular sports programs have reached an all time peak

Months of strenuous practicing of volleys, serves, and line shots proved worthwhile as the Varsity tennis team rallied to a successful season in both the City League and City Tournaments this fall

Bowling "rolled" off this October and ended in spring, giving girls of all class levels the opportunity to exercise and enjoy the company of their friends at the same time

Under the guidance of graduate Patricia Comte, the swim team was off with a splash. Discipline, organization, rest, and hard work were all contributing factors in the training of Notre Dame's "Mark Spitz's."

ATOC Proves To Be A Senior Citizen Victory

All is suspended in motion. Poised on the rim, the basketball rolls and wavers. The seconds tick away. And finally, at the last possible moment — the basketball swishes through amid shouts, groans, and cheering.

Thus the stage is set for the Notre Dame tournaments. The "drama" occurred on March 14 and 16 in the gym. The cast of players rehearsed for over a month, and were ready for opening night. The people behind the scenes added to the spectators' anticipation by setting the mood of excitement for the first act.

The Freshman Sharpshooters demonstrated their quick draw and courage. Proving they could ride the curl, the Sophomore Surfers stayed afloat under attack. Outshining their opponents, the Junior Superstars rocketed to stardom, and the Senior Citizens displayed talent, spirit, and worldly experience with a first place finish.

As the curtain fell, the audience gave a standing ovation to the spirit of competition, good sportsmanship and class unity shown by all participants.

Underclass ~

The underclass find that though they enter Notre Dame as a student barely out of grade school, they become more in tune with ideals of Notre Dame through each year. They soon become familiar with the attitudes of respect for teachers and others, and the commitment to better oneself through Christian community and education.

Freshman grow in responsibility when they are given opportunities to lead their class, to plan the liturgy for Mass, and in handing all assignments in on time. Their confidence increases, and they are able to handle the Mission Fair entrusted to them as sophomores.

As juniors they accept their class rings; this act renews their loyalty to other students of Notre Dame throughout the world. They are then ready to lead the school in their senior year.

Seniors ~ ~ ~

Each graduate has completed another phase of life. The period from infancy to toddler, child to adolescent has been completed, and time has come to enter adulthood. High school years were spent in growing, learning, and maturing, but in reality, the quest for knowledge and experience has just begun.

A Notre Dame graduate enters the outside world with a head start. The four previous years were spent with a stress on excellence in academics, good relations with people, self-discipline and an intangible spirit — one that wasn't always perceived as fact, but shown through her respect and love for others.

When either college or a job calls, the Notre Dame girl can enter it confident that though it is new and untried, the values she learned at N.D. will always carry her through the large or small challenges of the real world

Final Year Encourages Senior Class Support

"A Year in Review"

Senior year: The first big event, opening assembly, came on September 9, when Terry was transformed from proud senior to innocent freshmen. September continued in a rush, bringing Student Council election week all too soon for the excited but not completely prepared candidates. Finally the week ended with four new SC officers and many good luck wishes for Patty, Mary Lynn, Terry and Regina. Notre Dame doubled on the 23 with their first 77-78 dance featuring Milo Wood.

Bright and early on October 17 a group of seniors were found feasting on pancakes and sausages at their senior breakfast at Uncle John's. The sun rose after most traveling seniors on the 19 as they secured their luggage and headed to the Eastern Airlines terminal of Toledo Express Airport, destination, Washington D.C. "Oohs" and "aahs" accompanied the smooth take-off. When they were finally in Washington, the first day included Arlington Cemetery, McDonald's lunch, the "famous" Scholl's Cafeteria, Alexandria, and the interesting, to say the least, Hospitality House Hotel, a party in Carol, Bernie and Mary Ann's room and searching the halls for a working ice machine. Day 2 included the Capitol, Library, White House, National Shrine, FBI, Hogates' "classy" restaurant, Vincent Price at Ford's theatre and another night of pizza and frolicking. The final day, October 21, highlighted the National Cathedral and left too few hours for the girls to examine the various buildings of the Smithsonian and the National Art Gallery. October also included SFS and SJ homecomings in which 3 seniors, Michelle, Shari and Katie, were given special honor.

November encouraged seniors to try out for "Murder in a Nunnery" on the 6 and 9 which was also a busy week for those preparing for the 1977 SC dance. "Come Sail Away" was launched on the evening of November 18, complete with a sailboat on the horizon, water fountain and bridge, fish nets and Mass Transit! The following day St. John's defeated St. Francis in the Shoe Bowl.

St. Lucy escorted December, giving a day of honor to the eldest daughters of ND. The 21st was the Christmas Dance at which Patty, queen, reigned over her court, Chris, Regina, Adele and Kathy. The month exited on a rather nervous note with exams and Christmas preparations leaving the girls weary and exhausted.

"Who would commit such a crime as 'Murder in a Nunnery' — the last line of Student Directress Ann's opening speech. This theme marked January 13, 14 and 15. Rehearsal week kept the cast and crew up late at night and drowsy during first period. But opening and closing nights proved it all worth while as a full house audience applauded the nuns, students and residents of Harrington School. Celebrations were at Ann's house on Saturday and Dave's late night excursions on Sunday. "It all ended so quickly." January 23, Becky began the weeks of the senior art majors' showcase exhibits. The 25-26 was a night no one will forget — the great blizzard of '78, adding a touch of snowy class to NDA memories. School resumed on February 2 with a hum of friends reuniting.

As Toledo was being dug out, the senior departed for Genoa, Ohio on February 9 and 10. Retreat held many memorable moments and special opportunities to find Christ.

March and April brought Easter, spring vacation, tournaments and a rushing to get studies completed before graduation. April 28 sprang upon the students with the Junior-Senior prom. "Our last dance, girls" was a popular phrase which splashed along with tears and smiles. And finally May 28 — "What's the word on seniors minds all through senior year? G R A — another four quarters, D U A — only 2 semesters, T I O N." sung by Mickey's Mousekateers at opening assembly finally happened. The 2 semesters were over and the seniors were no longer seniors; they were alumnae.

TODAY
TOMORROW
YOU
ABOUT
YESTERDAY

"Just The Way You Are"

'Don't go changing to try to please me
You never let me down before
Don't imagine you're too familiar
And I don't see you anymore
I would not leave you in times of trouble
We never could have come this far
I took the good times, I'll take the bad times
I'll take you just the way you are
I don't want clever conversation
I never want to work that hard
I just want someone that I can talk to
I want you just the way you are
I need to know that you will always be
The same old someone that I knew
What will it take till you believe in me
The way I believe in you?
I said I love you and that's forever
This I promise from the heart
I couldn't love you any better
I love you just the way you are leggy,

Howdy, crazy lady! i really hope that you knock it off with Timmy. now it's going toooooo far! I'm gonna have to call his mother! Don't cry you better not go with Denise to Cedar Point!
Cause you both have to go with me!

I'll never forget the time when me, you, and Christy went to 7-11 and Christy spilled the slush all over your pants... oh, excuse me; shorts!! Then when those people came up in that luxurious car and the bum walked out of the car and goes: "did you know she was talking about you?" Oh God! What a day!
Hold on a minute! ok? ok! Now I'm back! I'm glad we've known each other for 2 years, It could possibly be 75 years, ya know! It's been a great year and now we're big sophomores! wo! I'll never forget all of the great times together that we've had!

All of the times we've had were great anyway
I hope our friendship continues to grow and we become closer & closer every year. remember this Kristy? gotta go.

I LOVE YA!
Love always,
Margaret

-N-
J.P.

Peggy,
I didn't say
much before so
Let's Do EET!

Peggy,
I don't know how to devany is - we broke up & my heart is broken @! I know but are you & Knuzel still having a great Love-affair! >! I'm sure you are. How is it living near Bauger-Gibs?
I pity you! Maybe we will be in the same religion class next year. Did you hear about dropping the bra out the window - I thought of it. Have a good summer.
Love, Mary

Peggy,

Even though I didn't get to be very good friends
I am still glad I met you!
Hope you have fun over the summer. Good luck!!

R81

Pam
Hir

Peggy,

Good luck in the Summer, you'll need it, (if Rosemary doesn't get you first!) Stay the same though

Anita Gehret

Stay Sweet
Summer!
Have a good summer, hope to see you soon!
Peggy,
Knuzel @ Knuzel

peg,
oh, i don't know what to say i mean everyone says
the something, so let me think ... think ... Don't worry about "B" Tim he's a queer

Because this time and this "summer you not going to have time to think about him because your going to come over all summer were going to swim, and go horseback riding all summer right? I'm so glad we became best friends are you? oh you are so cute and nice i know the boys will be on top of you. do you remember the first time we ~~met~~ met i do you go what's your name i go Denise "D"
what yours? oh really what? that was funny HA HA

Let me tell you something lady you better not go over Jeffs during the summer and jump on him! (anybody reading it, personal joke) oh pegg i'm so hot, i hope we follow through to be friends best all those 4 years do you? i just hope we are in more classes next year instead of just algebra, oh i hope we are in more classes next year instead of just algebra, spanish, and gym. i hope we were in ALL the same classes. If they put us all in the same classes they are crazy!! (like sis" (Irene) if you wouldn't have got moved (you queer) we could be having a blast in Algebra!
BEST OF FRIENDS ALWAYS

Denise Magistro

Peggy,
thunk
what a day for a change!
you're really nice ☺ and quite strange, i play
and you'll make you feel
Keep it... watch and keep your touch your friend
Laura
